

Assessment 10

TOTAL MARKS = 30

Q.1 Short Questions:

(24)

(All Question carry equal marks)

- i. Which element should be considered when deciding upon the floor for a room?
- ii. What should be considered when choosing floor for a kitchen?
- iii. If a feeling of warmth is required in a room which type of flooring would you choose?
- iv. What does Terrazzo flooring consist of?
- v. What is meant by 'cut pile carpet'. Which is it made of?
- vi. Which material is often used to make loop carpet?
- vii. Describe main characteristics of Persian rugs?
- viii. What is linoleum flooring made of and how is it laid?

Case Study

(06)

Linda's house is in bad need of re-decoration. The flooring is also damaged at some areas of the house. Few tiles are cracked on hallways flooring. Living room has parquet flooring and Linda wants to retain it as her budget does not allow her to replace the flooring altogether. If you are assigned the project.

what would you suggest for the living room flooring?

Do you think that the hall way floor should be relaid altogether or there is any other cheaper alternative available?